Murder charge filed

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A second suspect has been arrested in a 10-year-old gangland-style Romulus murder case, in which both victims were shot at least seven times with a semi-automatic rifle while they were seated in a parked car on California Street.

Arrested last week in a Lincoln Park gas station, was Mark Sennett, 39, of Southgate.

Sennett, who reportedly is an iron worker, was charged with two counts of first degree murder and two counts of felony firearm violations.

The murder weapon, believed to be a 9 mm. submachine gun style weapon, has never been recovered, Ondejko said.

He was arraigned Friday before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski on the four charges. Sennett was ordered held without bail, pending a hearing in the 34th District Court on Sept. 6.

Ironically 10 years ago, another man was arrested and convicted of the double murders.

That defendant, Robert Williams, 39, of Taylor, was ordered to have a new trial two years ago, after an Appeals Court ruled that he was not read his Miranda Rights early enough in the murder probe.

Since then, Williams reportedly has entered a guilty plea to second degree murder and apparently will be a witness in Sennett's murder hearing.

Detective Sgt. Michael Ondejko, who investigated the case a decade ago, has been reassigned to continue the probe. He revealed the two murder victims were Van Hooper, 25, and David Stanley, 27, who both lived in Taylor at the time of their deaths. According to police reports at that time, Hooper was found dead in the front seat of his black Volvo and Stanley was in the rear seat about 5:30 p.m. April 6, 1985. The car was parked on California, west of Wayne Road at the time.

The murder weapon, believed to be a 9 mm. submachine gun style weapon, has never been recovered, Ondeiko said.

Police believed it was thrown in the Detroit River.

Council rescinds court resolution

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Charges of racism, shows of outrage and claims the Recorder's Court issue did not belong on a local level abounded Monday night, as the Romulus City Council voted to rescind its previously approved resolution supporting county court mergers.

The top players in the night's two-hour drama were Recorder's Court Judge Kym Worthy and Darren Chase, a representative of State Rep. Deborah Whyman of Canton.

Worthy, who drew national acclaim as the Wayne County prosecutor in the Malice Green murder case, served as the spokesperson for the anti-Recorders Court-Circuit Court merger forces in attendance. Recorder's Court back to 1867 and claimed it has been cited as one of the best courts in the

Worthy revealed the little known fact that the Recorder's Court has a security system, while the Circuit Court does

She also stated that Western Wayne County criminals and prosecutors have the right to ask that their cases be heard in the Circuit Court, if they

Chase, who spoke immediately after Worthy, enflamed both members of the council and visiting Recorder's Court judges, when he referred to Worthy as "crafty" and never used her judicial title when mentioning her by name. Chase cited the fact that 56 state representatives had signed on as co-sponsors of Whyman's legislative action and urged Romulus city officials and citizens to push for the right to elect Recorder's Court judges.

"Why does the city of Detroit have the right to have its own court?" Chase asked.

"No one is making this a racist issue," Chase said, "and no one is saying the Recorder's Court is inefficient. We are not trying to eliminate judges, we just want to change their titles."

An unsigned blue sheet pressing for passage of the court merger plan was attacked by Councilman Randy Gear as "racist" and even Romulus father Bruce Jones declared "the message on the blue sheet almost makes me puke."

After the meeting, Jones, whose son Chris was slain last year by a 15- year-old gunman, said the line on the blue sheet that angered him the most was the one that stated "The Recorder's Court representative here tonight will incite your elected officials with false claims of racism."

Jones said he first saw the sheet last week, when he joined the court merger dialogue before the Canton Township Board.

"I didn't like it then and I like it even less tonight. I just don't want anyone to think Bruce Jones had anything to do with its printing."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry took Chase to task for constantly referring to Judge Worthy as Ms. Worthy. "You lost me on that one," Raspberry said, "I always call Mayor

Workers' efforts cited

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A veteran 20-year Romulus Department of Public Works employee, who was stricken by a heart attack at work and died later was honored Monday night by the Romulus City Council.

DPW Chief James Panos in a memo to Mayor Beverly McAnally wrote, "I was highly impressed with the quick, calm and efficient manner in which all the city employees involved handled this unfortunate incident."

Referring to the actions taken by his staff following the sudden attack that felled worker Larry Lindenmuth on Aug. 16, Panos wrote "by assessing the situation quickly and reacting as fast at they did by administering CPR, it was possible to get Mr. Lindenmuth to Annapolis Hospital, where he was given professional care."

Unfortunately while in the hospital the following day, Lindenmuth suffered a second and fatal heart attack, Panos explained.

"I believe that the employees involved performed above and beyond their duty and should be commended for this," Panos observed.

The DPW chief cited his following employees: Kathy Hood for quickly obtaining help for Mr. Lindenmuth and calling 911; Bonnie Simko for her quick assessment of the situation and for getting someone on the scene capable of performing CPR; Robert Kobylas and Rick Hadyniak for performing CPR and for George Simko, who was asked to drive the ambulance to the hospital, so that Emergency Medical technicians could adequately attend to Mr. Lindenmuth in the rear of the ambulance.

Panos recommended that a resolution be passed by the council citing Mr. Lindenmuth's 20-year career with the

The council accepted Panos' request and honored both the late employee with a memorial resolution and approved letters of commendation for his fellow city employees, who worked so hard to save him.

She traced the history of the Speeding van driver

A 37-year-old Allen Park driver was killed late Friday night, after his 1995 Ford van flipped over on the grass median on Interstate-94 in Romulus, police report.

The victim, Michael Alan Beaudoin, was reportedly traveling at speeds up to 85 miles per hour eastbound on I-94 (about a quarter of a mile east of Wayne Road) at 11:10 p.m. Friday, witnesses told police.

The same witnesses said Mr. Beaudoin's vehicle was moving from lane to lane, when it suddenly entered the median and flipped over one or more Detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus said the vehicle's airbag deployed, but Mr. Beaudoin was thrown from the van and died at the scene.

No other vehicle was involved in the crash, Kraus said, and there were no passengers in the van.

It was the city's fourth traffic fatality of 1995. Alcohol was a factor in the accident, police

Schools to reopen

ROMULUS NEWS

Public hearings are planned

Shiloh Industries is requesting a tax abatement in the amount of $29 million for personal property and a new building on Inkster Road, south of Wick Road.

City Clerk Linda Choate said a public hearing on Shiloh Industries creating an industrial district at 7 p.m. A second hearing will begin at 7:15 p.m. on a request for a facility exemption certificate.

Downtown unit members renamed

Five members of the Downtown Development Authority were reappointed to new terms that expire July 31, 1999.

Those reappointed included Dorothy Shaffer, Anthony Kopas, Frederick Hay, William Crane and Bill Simonds.

Kindergarten set to begin all day

All day kindergarten classes will begin next Wednesday in the Romulus Schools.

Under the every other day system, the classes will be divided into A and B groups.

Group A will attend school each Monday and Wednesday and Group B will attend Tuesday and Thursday. Both groups will rotate Friday classes.

The change in class schedules was dictated by a new Michigan law that has increased the number of hours students will be in school this year, Assistant Superintendent Joel Carr said last week.

Thus our bus schedule necessitated the change, Carr

Computer system now in place

With the recent purchase of extensive new software for the Middle and Romulus High School, all of the pieces of the school district's technology puzzle are now in place, Art McPharlin, district director of technology, revealed today.

The first computers (70 in total) were installed at Wick Elementary School four years

Since then 1,800 more computer stations have been added, McPharlin said.

An Integrated Learning System has been installed in every elementary school and in the Middle School, he said.

There students receive lessons in reading, writing and mathematics at their proper level of instruction, McPharlin added.

Church plans walk-a-thon

A five mile walk-a-thon to help raise funds for youth scholarships is slated for Sept. 23 at 9 a.m. by the Community Baptist Church.

Approximately 50 persons are expected to join in the walk, according to church spokesman Joe Allen.

Allen said the funds will be used to pay for scholarships and special achievement awards for local youth.

Council approves property sales

Three property purchases recommended by the city's Property Disposition Committee were approved by the City Council Monday night.

The first was for the purchase of Lots 39 and 40 in the Joe Louis Brooks Subdivision by Elroy K. Morris for $800.

The second was for 2.03 acres on Herman Street by Pam Fellows for $2,200.

The third was for Lots 43, 44, 45 and 46 in Joe Louis Brooks Subdivision for $1,600.

The council stipulated that the new owners of the property must pull permits within a year and construct homes within two years.

Sprinkle battles pneumonia

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Chuck Sprinkle, armed with a new heart, continues his battle against pneumonia at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

Sprinkle of Romulus, a former General Motors employee, developed pneumonia recently after being given the heart of a 26-year-old Florida accident victim.

"We have been told repeatedly by family members of many other organ recipients, that battling pneumonia is a widespread problem," his sister, Helen Van Riper of Tennessee said.

Van Riper said she has been at the Pittsburgh hospital since May 17, when Sprinkle was first admitted in search of a artificial heart. He used the artificial apparatus until Aug. 13, when doctors finally found a match for Sprinkle in Florida.

"Chuck remains in the intensive care unit here." Van Riper said, and is still being fed through the tube.

Sprinkle's wife, Pat, was not available on the phone Tuesday morning, but reportedly was trying to spend as much time with her husband as possible, since she has to return to Romulus this Labor Day weekend to begin her school bus route on Sept. 6.

Sprinkle retired 15 years ago after major heart problems surfaced while he was working with GM.

Earlier this year he was admitted to Beaumont Hospital, where he was placed on a balloon heart pump.

But since patients can only spend a limited amount of time on such a device, doctors immediately began to look for Sprinkle.

After more than 60 days on the balloon device in Michigan, it was decided by doctors the next best step was flying him to Pittsburgh where artificial heart devices were available.

Charter school will be delayed shut down in 1971 By KIMBERLY WOLOSKIE

MCN Staff Writer

The doors of Michigan's largest charter public elementary school, Monroe Developmental Academy, won't be opening Sept. 22 due to the purchase agreement with the district being withdrawn by financial backers of the school.

Approximately 300 students are being told to register elsewhere for the start of the 1995-96 school year, despite being a few weeks away from attending the new charter school.

While a Phase I environmental study was being completed in the Titus School building, conducted by the parties intending to purchase the facility, an abandoned buried fuel oil tank was discovered adjacent to the boiler room.

According to Chuck Stockwell, Monroe Developmental Academy administrator, the school's organizers have been trying to buy time from the district and give the group a 10day extension of their option to withdraw from the purchase agreement.

Investors were requesting the delay in an effort to conduct a study of potential environmental contamination at the site since the boiler was

"We still had investors through Monday and one as early as today, however, the district was unwilling to extend the deadline past Aug. 29," said Stockwell.

Stockwell is advising parents to register their children elsewhere. According to Terry Wood, community relations coordinator, parents should bring their children to the elementary school they were to attend in Wayne-Westland for registration.

'There's no problem. They can bring them into the elementary schools, and we'll take care of them," said Wood.

Dr. Steven Ingersoll, Board President of Monroe Developmental Academy, requested the district lease the building directly to the new academy or sell the building to the school on a land contract basis, based on the outcome of the environmental study.

A press release from the academy stated the superintendent would not favor the proposed resolution.

"I anticipate our administrative team will put together a recommendation for the Board of Education to place the Titus School building on open market for open bids in the future," stated Superintendent Duane Moore.

South Middle student is 'not horsing around' in competitions

By LORI GILLESPIE MCN Staff Writer

Elizabeth Hall, 11, has a lot in common with other kids her age. She is starting junior high this year, and her favorite subjects are art and math. But, what sets her apart from her peers is her hobby.

For the past five years, Elizabeth has been riding and driving horses. Four years ago, she began showing horses, and this year end she is showing her horse, UVM (University of Vermont) Lola, at the State Fairgrounds.

Last year, Elizabeth and Lola won an award in the pleasure class at the Spring Horse Show at the fairgrounds in Detroit. All together, Elizabeth has won eight awards at this type of show.

According to Elizabeth, she got her start when, "my mom got a hold of Ed Earehart through a friend at work. I started training with Mr. Earehart, and then I went through training with his kids, and now I'm back with Mr. Earehart again."

Elizabeth trained with David, Carl, Carrie, Bert, and Daniel Earehart.

The young horsewoman from Van Buren Township has blond hair, blue eyes and lots of freckles. UVM Lola, 13, a black Morgan mare, lives at the Earehart Training Stable in Milan.

For Elizabeth, the best part about riding horses is, "going to horse shows all over, and the people there are fun."

But, riding the horse in a show is not all fun and games. When she is riding or driving Lola, Elizabeth said she thinks about, "getting everything perfect, and trying to do the best I can do."

Her mother, Linda, who also rides, said, "This is the most enjoyable hobby we do together. It's great because we get to spend lots of time together. It's fun because we know winning isn't everything." Elizabeth jumped in and said, "It isn't everything, but it sure is nice!"

The Halls have a lot of fun going to the horse shows.

According to Elizabeth, "My mom drives her horse, Poplar Heirs Elegante, in some of the shows. Sometimes we even show against each other."

Elizabeth doesn't perform jumps with her horse.

"I want to, but my mom won't let me," she said.

She said the most difficult part about riding a horse is "equatation - - where they judge you, not the horse. The feet positions and the patterns the judges ask you to do at the end are also difficult."

She said that many of her friends ride the older horses just for fun, and her best friend, Megan Coppock, has started taking lessons from Ed Earehart.

Elizabeth enjoys riding horses, but she doesn't see herself doing this as a profession.

"I think I'll always have something to do with horses, but I want to become a lawyer."

Bus ride

Tour offers look at school district

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKIE MCN Staff Writer

The wheels on the bus went round and round for a group of newly hired teachers, as they toured the district with Assistant Superintendent Greg Baracy in the front seat.

Although Baracy didn't drive the bus, he and Community Relations Coordinator Terry Wood, verbally guided the bus of teachers along the side streets and through the neighborhoods of Wayne-Westland.

The hour and one half tour took the staffers from as far north as Canton Center Road and Palmer in Canton to Grand Traverse in Norwayne for a look at Lincoln Elementary School in Westland. Organizers gave the new teachers a chance to see the district and ask questions - an opportunity the participants welcomed.

New hires and former district substitutes from Trenton, Detroit and Lansing got a look at their district first hand, as do hundreds of the students that ride the district's 80 buses.

"What a better way to see the district than on a school bus," said teacher. "I wouldn't have the time once school starts to drive around and see everything myself."

The tour included a look at the William D. Ford Vocational/Technical Center, Wayne County RESA facility, various elementary, middle and high schools and neighborhoods throughout the district.

Baracy told the teachers the district's student population will reach approximately 14,700, down from a 1986 peak of 24,000. "The district serves five municipalities including Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Romulus and Canton Township.

The population decrease, said Baracy could be attributed to the shift westward over the last decade and the closing of 15 elementary schools since 1980. A district in the 1930s and 1940s that served students from 30 different elementary schools within the boundaries of the community.

"District boundaries are drawn based on rivers, streams, railroad tracks and main roads, not neighborhoods," said Baracy. "The state has tried to keep the subdivisions together and not divided."

Teacher inquiries included the district-wide breakfast program, schools of choice, athletics, Sassafras Trails, and Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) scores.

"I was glad to see Wayne-Westland decided to bring soccer to the district," said a recent Eastern Michigan University graduate. "Good move."

Many of the teachers said the attraction to Wayne-Westland included the number of jobs available, the number of schools in the district, the new superintendent and the resurgence of young teachers coming to the community.

"I'd been turned down at other district's because they were looking for a male teacher," said new hire, Catherine Wegienka. "I felt Wayne- Westland was sincerely interested in hiring a qualified teacher and not whether they were a man or a woman."

Wegienka, a 1994 graduate of Michigan State University, said she is looking forward to her assignment at Vandenberg Elementary in Wayne. "I recently completed a year of student teaching in the Glen-

MICHIGAN COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS

In this day and age, when we are looking for positive images, you give us smut!

You have glamorized a so-called profession that is fraught with drugs, alcohol, sex and violence.

Our Sunday publication, Eyewitness has taken a lot of criticism for provocative photos and story content. Many readers would like to see the publication filled with good news an 100 percent family- related content.

Although we attempted to explain our new strategy with the first issue of Eyewitness several weeks ago, it appears additional explanations

Eyewitness was preceded by the Sunday Eagle and Enterprise. That publication in existence for five years was never really accepted by Western Wayne readers. Surveys told us we needed to be different with our Sunday product. Advertisers demanded more readership. Thus we were in a Catch 22 situation. Either we do things differently or shut the Sunday newspaper down. We chose

The Eyewitness is our attempt at being different. We want to entice readers with big, bold photographs. We want to present the issues of the day in graphic detail so that hopefully we all will have a better understanding of the world around us.

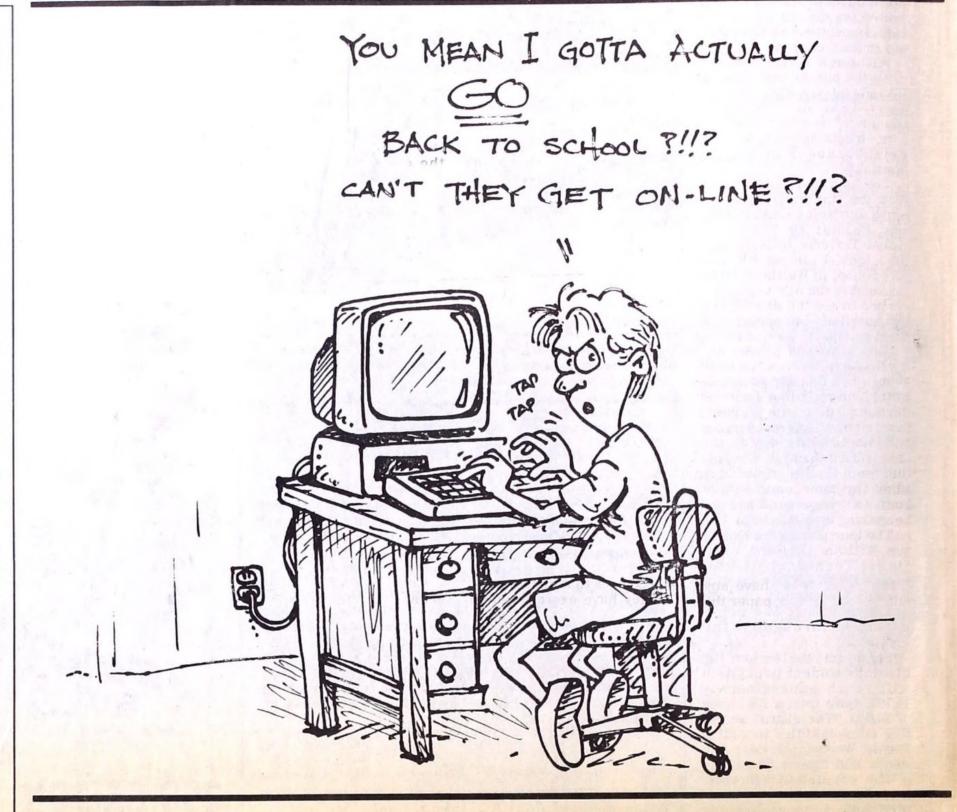

Eyewitness is not a family newspaper. MCN publishes six award winning family newspapers on Thursdays. We have expanded the local news content in those newspapers by introducing Good News which appears once monthly in each of the cities we cover. Eyewitness goes beyond the names and faces in an attempt to cover stories in more detail much like a magazine would.

WE have been criticized for writing about prostitution, drugs, crime, etc. Some readers don't think it is our place to publicize the seedier side of Western Wayne. As reporters and managers we often debate this in meetings. We don't all agree, but let me say one of our functions as a newspaper is to be a window of the entire community. We cannot, as a community leader, ignore the problems that exist in our cities. By publicizing the crime, drugs and prostitution we make people aware. Some we make angry. We hope that some transfer that anger to positive efforts to eradicate the problems.

We appreciate your thoughts. If Eyewitness continues to be offensive, don't hesitate to write or call. We make our editorial decisions based on what we think our readers want. Angry readers can make us change our policy real fast!

Low MEAP scores have long been the scourge of many school administrators. A recent report indicates bad news for the Westwood School District. Of all the public schools in the state, Westwood (considering 10th grade scores only) holds the dubious distinction of having the fifth worst scores. A paltry 15 percent of the Westwood 10th graders passed the MEAP reading, math and science tests. Students in larger, urban districts, like Detroit, Flint and Pontiac all placed much higher. How can this be?

Congratulations to former Westland John Glenn football coach Lloyd Carr. His Michigan Wolverines could have easily panicked after spotting Virginia 17 points. But Carr, who labored as an assistant for several years in the U of M system, showed poise well beyond his coaching experience by sticking with freshman quarterback Scott Dreisbach, who later led Carr's team to one of the greatest comebacks in Michigan's stellar football history. Great job, Lloyd!

Inkster booming

To the editor:

The Inkster Downtown Development Authority has one

"The best developers for Inkster are Inkster business owners and Inkster residents.'

The bold development plan of the DDA - detailed in the 105-page Feasibility Study and Development Plan - centers on the "Quadrant Plan" which organizes Community-Based Organizations (CBOs) citywide to build new homes and rebuild existing structures in consort with a newly-organized LDC (Local Development Company) headed by Inkster Business leaders. In less than three (3) months of implementation, the DDA Plan has generated both new construction and a new enthusiasm:

1. The first new home under the DDA Quadrant Plan will be completed in three (3) weeks, with the LDC providing construction management, Colonial Woods Block Club serving as CBO and sponsor, financing by NBD, and an Inkster-based general contractor building the home for an Inkster family.

2. Five (5) homes scattered throughout the city have been purchased for $100 each, with rebuilding to start once title is transferred to Inkster DDA by the city, along with the title for the old Inkster Township Hall, which is being converted to an office building by the DDA in a co-development with Inkster resident developers.

3. Three (3) shopping centers at a total cost of $9.5 million are in the property acquisition phases, with Inkster residents co-developing these commercial centers along with Inkster DDA.

4. Inkster LDC now numbers 70 members, and is serving as both a Retail Merchants Association and Chamber of Commerce. It received an NBD grant for staffing, and has already published a Great City! Newsletter and started other promotional activities.

5. In conjunction with Inkster School Board, the DDA has held an Inkster Youth Job Opportunities Fair where over thirty (30) employers both in Inkster and elsewhere have agreed to identify youngsters at the middle school level and provide them with special training through the community college level, summer jobs, and permanent jobs upon completion of their education.

Several industrial plants are in process through Inkster DDA - one has already been issued a building permit — and the DDA has signed up these corporations in the Inkster Youth Job Opportunities Program.

7. Major retailers are visiting Inkster seeking land, and Inkster DDA has started a "land bank" program to take advantage of these new developments. Banks are actually competing with each other for Inkster loans, and a level of reinvestment in the city unheard of in the last 50 years is underway.

No longer is Inkster talking about what could be done; new construction and new development have replaced words as the measure of growth. I ask that you take a look at these hard facts, and join Inkster DDA in showing that the Great City! potential of Inkster is now being realized by an old American strategy: people working together for the common good.

Court funds vetoed

To the editor: At one time or another, most Michigan citizens will come in contact with Michigan's court system - when family members die, for adoptions, divorces or maybe as victims of crimes. We should all expect the justice system to operate effectively and efficiently. Unfortunately, our experiences have made us well aware of the problems of our overloaded court sys-

Governor Engler turned his back last week on the citizens of 82 Michigan counties by vetoing $25 million in funds for their courts. He has broken a promise made 15 years ago when he was in the Legislature to fully fund all courts. He has also broken a bipartisan agreement that, for the first time, demonstrated to our courts and local units of governments that the state seriously intended to fulfill its financial obligations.

What is the Governor waiting for? Although he claims we can't provide more funding until the courts are reorganized, he has no plan of his own and has not endorsed any of the numerous court reorganization plans that have been put forth. It is only a matter of time before the courts rule on pending lawsuits, and we will be faced with another funding crisis.

We urge the Governor to join us in accepting responsibility for the problems in our courts, and to immediately begin work to create the effective and efficient court system our citizens de-

Callers comment on city officials

past week I thought I'd call

During the past week several callers have listed their complaints about city officials and city programs.

While we encourage comments on municipal issues on the Sound-Off line, we will not print personal attacks on individuals whether they are elected officials or area residents.

Please limit your comments to facts about the issues, and speak clearly so that your remarks can be transcribed by our staff.

We welcome comments on articles or letters to the editor that appear in any of the Michigan Community Newspapers' six home town newspapers or the Sunday Eyewitness. Criticisms or comments on any topic of general interest are also encouraged.

Here are some of the comments received on the Sound-Off line:

I'd like to make a comment about one of the Romulus city councilmen I'd like to thank him for starting to get some of the railroad crossings fixed and thank him for not being a one issue candidate. I hope that people remember that when they go to vote. Everybody has made mistakes but he's not a one-issue candidate and I want to thank him for the things that he's done.

Most people that have lived here a long time, we know what's going on, you know. Look at the issue here with our waste. People continue to dump it into our ditches and they want to continue to dump it into our lakes. Look at Lake St. Clair. Hi, I live in the city of Wayne and I'm calling about the mayor. Not even half way through his term he went for another position - county commission, which pays $52,000 a year and a free car. He should have went on for at least a second term, but no, he went for the money. I hope they have the common sense to elect someone who cares about the city and isn't out for themselves or to make a buck, or use the position as a stepping stone. I'm very concerned about this.

I'm calling about a councilman in the city of Wayne. I think it's sad to see a grown man follow someone around the way he does the mayor of this city -- agreeing with everything the mayor says, never disagreeing. I think that he should stay home. A little bit of argument is healthy.

Wayne toddler named a princess

By MARGO DEWEY MCN News Editor

Oh you beautiful doll.

A three-year-old Wayne resident recently captured the hearts of the "Pretty Little Princess" pageant judges at the Holiday Inn Crown Plaza.

Bethany Dickerson, daughter of Bob and Tricia Dickerson, competed against 48 other toddlers and became the second runner-up in the contest.

"She had to walk on stage as gracefully as she could," said her mother. "She really did a wonderful job. We practiced two months. She even blew a kiss to the judges."

This is the first beauty contest little Bethany entered, but with her obvious charm and beauty she is expected to "wow" judges for many more years.

"As parents we were a little nervous, especially since it was Bethany's first time," said her father. "Once she got on stage, I was so proud of her."

The girls participating in the contest had to wear an elegant dress, and they were judged not only on appearance but also personality, according to the Dickersons. "The winner of the contest received a $200 scholarship, crown, trophy and ribbon," said Tricia Dickerson. "Being second runner-up Bethany received a trophy and ribbon."

Can area residents expect to see little Bethany on stage again in the near future?

"As long as she enjoys it we'll keep entering the various pageants," said her mother

Behind the scenes Former Miss Wayne spends some time with contestants

Another summer has flown by, another Wheelfest is finished and a new Miss Wayne has taken the helm.

It was a hectic day Aug. 24 for five young ladies in the City of Wayne. The Miss Wayne contest, presented at Stage IV of the State Wayne Theatre, took on a new direction this year and after much planning on behalf of the committee members, support of the community and enthusiasm of the contestants, it was a success.

The crowning of 17-year-old Erica Hermatz was met by a round of applause.

Organizers of the contest were Pam Dobrowolski, Val Wolf and Ed Turner. They engineered an event that would truly support the variety of accomplishments of each member of the court.

An informal reception took place back stage before the contest began. It was a time for the three judges to get to know the girls face-to-face.

While munching on pizza, the girls gradually relaxed. Before they knew it, the house lights were going down, and the girls were rushed into the dressing room for last minute hair and makeup fixes.

While fixing her lipstick, Katie Pardee, 16, spoke approvingly of the reception.

"Meeting the judges calmed my nerves, and I was able to let them get to know the real me," said Pardee.

After the contestants introduced themselves to the audience, the talent segment began. Talents ranged from instrument playing to karate to Tahitian dance.

Julie Thomas, first runnerup, played a piano solo. Her musical selection, The Memory, was soft yet powerful and expertly displayed her musical talent.

"Playing the piano is a great way to relax, except when you are being judged in front of an audience full of spectators," said Thomas.

After the talent show, the girls changed into evening gowns and read their essays, "What my community means to Colleen Mawby, a John Glenn High School junior, read her essay with flair and pizzazz. She highlighted the fact that one should open their eyes to their community to be able to appreciate it.

Organizer Pam Dobrowolski said the contest can only improve in years to come.

Editor's Note: Kelly Chorbagian, special writer for Michigan Community Newspapers, was the 1994 Miss Wayne and host of this year's event. She interviewed the contestants in the 1995 Miss Wayne pageant as a special story.

Can Lo Guess lead Wayne back to glory days?

Road begins on Friday at Adrian

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

Can Lorenzo Guess lead Wayne Memorial back to the glory days of the mid 1960's when Wayne ruled the grid iron and its natural rival, Westland John Glenn?

Guess, who had the savvy to make Wayne a winner in basketball a year ago, also is the one that has made Wayne a contender in football the past two years. He can do it all, according to Wayne's coaches.

"We can make a difference this year," said Wayne coach Chuck Howton. "But this definitely is no time for reminiscing, but of getting ready. Belleville, Monroe, and Fordson will be tough again. In fact, looking at the entire field, I really don't see anyone who you can count out. Everybody seems to be loaded."

And Howton was also not too pleased at what he saw during last week's scrimmages against Northville and Warren

"Our timing on offense wasn't there. We didn't execute the way I felt we could have. And you know that there isn't much time left to work out the kinks. Friday night we begin another season.'

Wayne opens the 1995 campaign Friday night at Adrian. During their past five encounters, Adrian has amassed a 3-2 edge in the "W" column.

"Adrian is a tough opening opponent," added Howton. "I'm going to say that they have qualified for the state playoffs four out of the past five years and that's telling you something about their program over there.'

Not only did the Wayne offense sputter in the scrimmage, but the defense, despite a few shining moments, had its share of problems, according to Howton.

The Wayne enigma apparently is that the experience is there, but has not flexed itself. Howton and the Zebras hope that it will all come together Friday night.

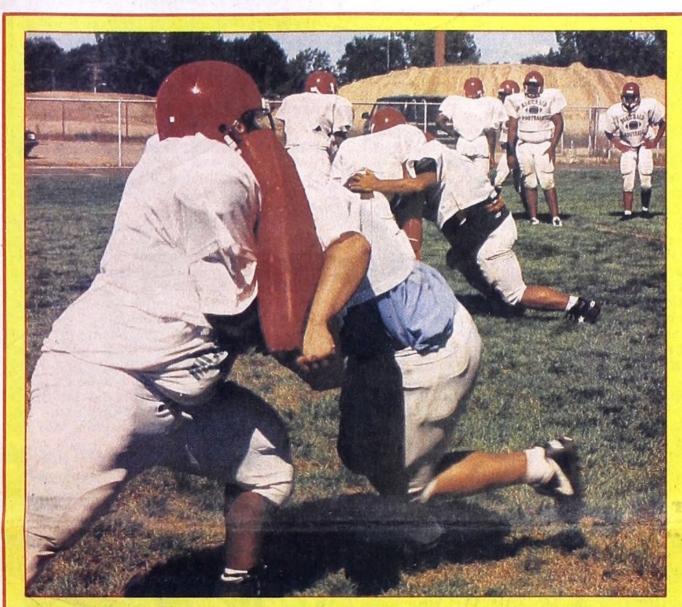

All was not lost during the scrimmage. The veteran Wayne coach said he was pleased with the performance of 6-1, 205-pound nose guard George Buckner and Matt McNea, a 6-1, 185-pound defensive tackle. Also, the linebackers' corps, led by Tim Galinis and Nick Nyschick showed that they can get the job done.

"We do have some pluses, but not enough to say that we are ready for a team like Adrian."

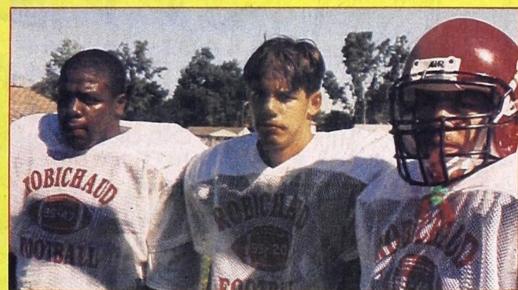

The defensive secondary also appears ready thanks to such seasoned players as safety Richard Rashad and Jeff Temple.

If Wayne is to take its place at the top of the Red Division, the Zebras will need to find a front line that will protect their talented quarterback.

And, if that doesn't happen, the glory days will remain just a figment of imagination.

An early 'must' 1st game is big one for Robichaud

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

It isn't often that first games are "must" games.

But Robichaud coach Bob Yauck realizes that a loss to Monroe St. Mary's Catholic Central Friday afternoon in the season's opener will diminish the Bulldogs' chances of a postseason Class B playoff berth.

Yauck also realizes he doesn't have an easy task taking the first one from St. Mary's Joseph Sandersen, whose team went 6-3 a Obviously a Monroe CC victory over the defending Suburban Athletic Conference champ would enhance St. Mary's playoff hopes. The Bulldogs should compile a bundle of playoff points during their drive for a second-straight SAC title.

"We know that they have a lot of gifted athletes," said Sandersen, who begins his 26th year as head coach. "Although we don't know much about this team, Robichaud's tradition of fielding outstanding talent is known throughout the state."

Robichaud produced such outstanding football talent as tailback Tyrone Wheatley, who was an All-American prep while at Robichaud and went on to set all sorts of rushing and scoring records as a tailback with the University of Michigan.

Wheatley was a first-round draft choice by the New York Giants.

Now back to the high school ranks. St. Mary's has 10 lettermen returning to its lineup and among the blue chips are Chuck Dykes, a swingback who doubles as a linebacker, and two-way tackle Goeff Goodman.

We know that they have a lot of gifted athletes.

Joseph Sandersen

Goodman and Dykes serve as St. Mary's cocaptains this year. The two could cause the Bulldogs a lot of headaches Friday

Yauck, also in his 26th year as head coach at Robichaud, his 30th overall, won the SAC with a perfect 6-0 record and finished with an 8-3 overall record, beating such powers as Marysville in the post-season playoffs. (The Bulldogs were ousted in the second-round by Detroit Country Day.) The Bulldogs are an odds-on-favorite to win the SAC again.

Prep prognosticators say that the SAC is down, pointing to the defection of Oak Park to a Mega Conference in Oakland County and the declining enrollments at Ecorse and Inkster, which have been dropped in the Class C ranks by the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

The onus of a Robichaud repeat may fall upon the shoulders of 5-10, 235-pound senior tailback Omar Speight, a speedy running back who has been clocked in the 40 in 4.6 seconds. Speight was an unanimous all-SAC and All-Area player a year ago, and barring injuries, could be one of the top players in the state this year.

Salem's goal is to avoid Belleville's speed trap

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

Up-and-down the depth chart, veteran Plymouth-Salem football coach Tom Moshimer sees a Belleville that has a lot of speed and talent.

And Moshimer has the dubious honor of hosting Belleville, the defending Mega Conference, Red Division champ, in the season opener.

School officials say that the opener will be played at Plymouth-Salem although some schedules erroneously show it as an "away" game for Plymouth.

"Belleville has always had a lot of good athletes and now that they have an outstanding coach, they have a winning combination," said Moshimer, who began his coaching tenure at Salem 29 years ago. "Look at their record - they have won their last 16 regular-season games. That's impressive."

Very impressive. And those who have followed the high school football scene these many years pick Belleville to pick up where the Tigers left off a year ago. No, not losing to Westland John Glenn in a playoff game, but starting another winning streak.

'To beat them, we somehow must stop their speed," Moshimer added. "They are an exceptionally fast and big team and right now, I just can't see any weaknesses.'

What Salem will have going for it is a home crowd and the malaise that usually inflicts title hopefuls - first-night jitters.

Belleville coach Bob LaPointe and the Tigers are led by All-Area running backs Joe Manuel and Ian Gold. The Tigers also have such notables as tackle Derrick Augers (6-4, 265), end Samuel Reid (6-3, 220), and Greg Vojtkofsky. Salem may be ready for the challenge.

The Rocks are coming off impressive scrimmages, with Dearborn Heights Crestwood, Novi, and Livonia Churchill. However, Moshimer is the first to admit that these teams are not in the class of a Belleville.

Off of the scrimmages, Salem fullback Matt Johnson and Tom Bish's appear ready to go. "Friday, we are going to get a glimpse at what this team is really all about," Moshimer added. In the meantime, the veteran coach is still looking for a starting quarterback. He is undecided who will occupy that key post when the Rocks take to the home field at 7:30 p.m.

"At this point I really don't know who I am going to go with," Moshimer conceded. "Right know it's up in the air."

Payback time?

Khoenle, Canton believe so

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

One of these fall afternoons, Plymouth-Canton and coach Bob Khoenle will walk out of the shadows of Farmington Harrison.

But most prognosticators don't expect that to happen during the 1995 football season:

Harrison, the defending Class A state champ and, of late, a perennial state title contender, has also dominated the Western Division of the Western Lakes Conference football world, and no one is looking for that to change in the immediate future.

"They (Harrison) are the defending state champ, and until someone proves otherwise, they are the team to beat in our division," said Khoenle as he prepares to launch his ninth year as head coach at Canton. "We get them early - the third game of the season, I believe. We don't have much time to prepare for them.'

Khoenle and his staff are not looking ahead, he says, "because we will have our hands full getting ready for Friday night."

On Friday, the Chiefs begin the 1995 campaign on the road at Monroe. The Trojans, considered one of the best in the tough Mega Conference, Red Division, stunned the Chiefs a year ago, 16-13.

Neither Khoenle or the Chiefs have forgotten the setback. Is it pay back time? Maybe.

"Monroe is well coached and Carducci (Ralph Carducci, head coach) probably has the premier fullback in the area if not the state," added Khoenle. "If we don't stop him, you know we're in for a long night.'

Khoenle was referring to Monroe's senior fullback Jovan Johnson, a 6-3, 240-pound demolition-kind of runner who few could stop a year

Khoenle says that if his assessments of an invincible Harrison doesn't materialize and if the Hawks have an atypical season, then look for Northville and his Chiefs clawing their way to the top of the Western Division hill.

No matter what happens, the Canton coach says "we will be in the top three."

With good reason.

Although the Chiefs have only six players returning from last year, those six are the kind that franchises are made of. Quarterback Rob Johnson, a 6-4, 195-pound junior, has the power to fire up this team, and if he gets hurt, there's backup 6-2, 190-pound Pat Nelson waiting in the have in previous years.

For targets, Johnson and Nelson will have two of the finest in All-Area cager, Ron Hunter, a 6-3, 190-pound outstanding all-around athlete and 5-11, 165-pound Nick Belyk who also has what coaches like to call "good hands".

Two other notables who the Chiefs will need are Joni Jarems, a 5-11, 170-pound senior, and Eric Sarrault, a 5-9, 160-pound junior. Matt McIntosh has the inside track on the center

Look for Max Lafferty, (6-2, 245) and John Wright, (6-0, 205) at the tackle slots, while cocaptain Sean Dryer (5-8,175) is being groomed as the nose guard. Other standouts that must have good seasons if the Chiefs are to reach the top of the pack include Nick Allen, a 6-0, 205pound fullback; junior tailback Mike Montgomery (5-11,195) and Jason Pennebaker (6-1,185).

After Friday night's opener with Monroe, the Chiefs will square off with Walled Lake Central the following week (Sept. 8) before learning just how good the defending champ, Harrison, is. The two have set Sept. 15 for their combat date.

Would Khoenle have preferred playing the champs in the second-half of the season rather than the third week? "Not really. It doesn't make a difference. You got to be up each week in this league or suffer the consequences."

Romulus begins new era with new coach in new league

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

It's not enough to be talented these days. In football, you have to prove yourself every week.

And first-year Romulus head football coach Mark D. Woodson is the first to admit that his new charges have a lot of potential talent, but they will have a lot to prove Friday night when the Eagles take to the field at Taylor Truman.

"We have talent on this team, but we also have a lot of inexperienced players who will need time to develop. I don't think we have that luxury because this team has been accepted in a conference that I feel is second to none in the Fordson for their first home state. We better be ready to Romulus has been accepted in the Mega Conference and the football team has been assigned to the Red Division, the toughest of the three divisions. Making up the other two divisions are the Blue and White.

The Eagles will face such state football powers in the newly-aligned Red Division as Dearborn Fordson, Belleville, Monroe, Wayne Memorial, Lincoln Park and Wyandotte. There will be no "easy W's" for the Eagles this year.

After two road games - their second at Woodhaven, Woodson and the Eagles have the dubious honor of taking on game of the 1995 campaign.

Belleville is the Mega Conference, Red Division defending champ and has a string of 16-regular season victories. (The Tigers lost to Westland John Glenn in their first-ever playoff appearance a year

Woodson, a former Robichaud grid and track star who played professionally in the Canadian Football League (1985 - Toronto Argonauts) and the United States Football League (Orlando Renegades) before joining the coaching ranks at Robichaud, replaces Jim Zoltowski as head coach at Romulus.

A year ago, as an independent, the Eagles finished 3-5, posting victories over Truman, Willow Run and Dearborn Heights Annapolis.

The first-year coach has 10 holdovers from last year's squad. Ryan Evans is still the one the Eagles will be counting upon at quarterback. A matured athlete who stands 6-0 and is 186, Woodson describes his senior signal-caller as an athlete who "can make things happen."

Evans has an excellent throwing arm, but may not have the time to utilize it - the line is being revamped from end-to-end.

"We just don't have enough experience up front," says Woodson.

Woodson is looking at three candidates vying for to fill the void created by graduation in the backfield. Vying for the running back slots are senior Maurice Franklin (5-8, 170), Nick McKinnie, (5-8, 175) and a freshman, Fred Russell, who has "excellent speed", according to Woodson.

Evans will also have two excellent receivers in flankers Jamal Bailey (5-8, 180) and Roy Chambers (5-8, 180). But even with the return with Devin Atkinson, a 6-5, 260-pound tackle, and Tyrone Lipford (5-9, 245) to the trenches on offense, the Eagles' flow of experience stops suddenly.

Center Rich McDonald (5-8. 185) and Nick Stengel (5-9, 190) round out the line.

On defense, Romulus boasts at least one notable of All-Area consideration. He's middle linebacker Keith Miller. Another standout who opponents will not be able to miss is 6-5, 275-pound two-way tackle Deveron Pankel, who has returned to the team after a year hiatus.

"Devron has a lot of potential," said Woodson. "We're going to need him to come through this team if we are going to have any success this

Robichaud and Monroe CC have not met in a regular season game, but the two have clashed in post-season competition. The Bulldogs won that one, but that's when Wheatley was in the Bulldog backfield. By the way, Wheatley's injury suffered in his debut with the New York Giants is more serious than the initial reports indicated. Wheatley sustained two cracked ribs on the third play of his professional career, playing against the New York Jets. It's uncertain when he will be back on the playing field.

In the meantime, Inkster is struggling to put together a team for the 1995 season. Only 10 players reported to camp the first week and, although first-year coach Glenn Free was optimistic that more candidates would surface once classes began, there has not been much of an increase in numbers.

Inkster is scheduled to play Saginaw Buena Vista in its opener. The Vikings will host the 3:30 p.m. Friday game.

A field of 100 Inkster crowns tennis champions

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

Some 100 amateur men and women local and area tennis die-hards took to the Inkster municipal tennis courts last weekend to compete in the 17th annual Inkster Parks and Recreation Tournament, and when the three-day competitions ended, 15 had earned first-place trophies.

'It was a first class tournament," said Portia Dickson, tournament manager who noted that some of the players came from out-state, and asfar away as Ohio. "We would not have been able to stage this (tournament) without the help and generous donations provided by local surrounding communities and business groups.

Ron Wolkowicz, Inkster parks and recreation director, thanked all of the volunteers who participated and were involved in the program. Among those who contributed to the success of the tournament, Wolkowicz stressed, are "Michael Banks of Professional Racquet Service, the Optimist Club of Inkster, and Mr. Hearns for all the things they provided to the tournament."

In the meantime, on the court, Detroiter Kane Hunter turned back Inkster netter Richard McGinnis to capture top honors in the men's singles competition. In the women's singles bracket, Michelle Bradford of Detroit disposed of Southfield's Leslie Burns to emerge with the gold medal.

Oak Park competitor Donnie Latimore proved to be the best of the men's 35 & Over Singles group as he defeated David White of Michelle Bradford of Detroit and Gail Lewis of Southfield stunned Detroiters Connie Edward and Annette Stokes to capture the women's doubles title.

Detroit. Inkster was represented in the winner's circle by Johnny Evans, who crushed Raheem Khalid's bid to win the Men's 45 & Over Single title.

In Open Doubles (Adult) competition, Inkster's Richard McGinnis teamed up with Detroiter Darryl Mitchell to beat the Oak Park team of Donny Latimore and Ken Williams. Two Detroiters - Michelle Bradford and Michael Banks defeated Roger and Denise Suter of Farmington for the adult mixed doubles' crown.

Ohio resident Larry Moreland and Detroiter T. K. Kaunda of Detroit surfaced winners over Southfield residents, Jerry Butler and Jerry Brooks in the men's 45 & over doubles category.

Michelle Bradford of Detroit and Gail Lewis of Southfield stunned Detroiters Connie Edward and Annette Stokes to capture the women's doubles title.

Finally, S. Singh of Dearborn Heights claimed the 17 & Under singles' championship and Stephen Davis of the United States Tennis Association picked up a gold in the youth 14 and under singles.

Cyclists celebrate sport, personal achievement

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKIE MCN Staff Writer

No one can appreciate the thrill of a challenging bicycle ride or the satisfaction of crossing the finish line in a competition than a group of some very special cyclists from Western Wayne County.

Members of the ARC of Western Wayne County Bicycle Program and Racing Team will be celebrating their love of the sport at the third annual Celebration of Cycling on Sept. 23 at Hines Drive at Nankin Mills.

Novice and professional cyclists from surrounding areas can enjoy the relaxed pace of a 10-mile traffic-free ride to the challenging 100 mile tour from the original ride site to Milford and back to Westland.

The ride benefits the program through funds raised at the event as well as allowing cyclists with disabilities the ability to demonstrate their skill level.

"Last year more than 200 cyclists of all abilities participated in the ride," said Program Director John Waterman. Organizers are expecting approximately 400 participants this year.

The ARC Bicycle Program will utilize funds raised through the ride to support the activities of the team. The program, made up of approximately 125 members from Wayne, Wyandotte and Detroit, is the only one of its kind in the

"We offer an extensive training program for cyclists of all disabilities and personal skill levels," said Waterman.

During the ride, individuals who have become cyclists through The ARC Bicycle Program will be demonstrating skills as capable community cyclists.

Recause of the funds involved with training, average per person cost - $300, the program relies heavily on the proceeds from the ride. Aside from an intensive training schedule and a three to one student/trainer ratio, the escalating cost associated with special equipment or bicycle alterations, some riders require, can be as high as $2,800.

The annual ride is also made possible through donations of goods and services from local business and organizations including the Detroit- Wayne County Community Mental Health, The Michigan Fitness Foundation, Governor's Fitness Council, Civitans, Jr. Civitans and Washtenaw Cycle & Fitness.

If you are interested in registering for the ride, volunteering your time at the event or making a donation, contact the ARC office at (313) 729-9100. All donations are tax deduct-

Event organizers are also offering the opportunity for community members to sponsor a cyclist. You will receive a picture of the individual, a report regarding the cyclists progress and the satisfaction in knowing you have helped to improve the quality of life of an individual with disabilities.

It's a tall order. And maybe not every doctor is cut out for it. But then if we're going to make things easier for our patients, we must strive to provide quality doctors. So, before any doctors become Blue Care Network doctors, before they ever examine a single patient, they must first meet or surpass some rather lofty standards. Here's what it takes. First, all doctors (personal care physicians and specialists) are reviewed against specific written criteria. (Quality of care is the thing we're measuring

Moreover, an on-site inspection is conducted by specially trained staff and the results are reviewed by Blue Care Network doctors in the area.

Patient satisfaction surveys are conducted by a professional, independent research company. Here, we ask patients to evaluate their doctor's technical skills as well as the basic level of service and care.

DNR splits

Environmental, conservation functions divided into two

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER MCN Managing Editor

An executive order by Gov. John Engler has split the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) into two departments, one which retains the original name and the other named the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ).

The split will become effective on Oct. 1 unless action is taken by the State Legislature.

After the two departments split, the DNR will keep the traditional consevation divsiion such as fisheries, wildlife, parks and recreation, law enforcement and will maintain responsibilit for the state's land transactions which are currently performed by the Real Estate Division.

Deputy Director Russ Harding, who has been picked to head the new Department of Environmental Quality, said the new department will be responsible for air quality, environmental response, surface water quality, environmental assistance, underground storage tanks and waste management. The majority of the Geological Survey Division will be transferred to the new department with the exception of the geological resource evaluation and mapping program.

"The majority of the Land and Water Management Division will be transferred to the DEQ with the exception of the farmland and open space preservations program, natural rivers program and the Michigan information resource inventory system," Harding said.

"One of the questions that is being raised is whethr splitting the DNR is really a necessary step, and whether it will be good for the environment,' Harding said. "I believe that this is a necessary step for the continued protectionof the state's environmental resources. The people of Michigan have consistently voiced support for natural resource programs and protection for our unique environment.

"We need to maintain, and build on, past environmental successes of this state. Oftentimes, the environmental protection programs and the resource management programs have competing priorities," Harding said.

"Under the reorganization, both environmental programs and resouce management programs will get the attention they deserve as both will have cabinet level status as separate departments. In addition, the separate departments will quell the decades-old concern that hunting and fishing dolthe environmental programs," the new DEQ director said.

Harding said that the new department would be "consumer driven."

"We will build on the past successes of the environmental protection programs by placing the emphasis on providing more services to our customers, alleviating the permit backlog and decreasing the turnaround time for permits," Harding said. "We also will open an office in the city of Detroit within six months of the establishment of the new department in order to provide more access to DEQ for the largest population center in the state.

"In addition, we will encourage amendments of current laws that inhibit the department's ability to strive for partnerships and continue to implement admendments that provide for them. Specifically, we will be very agressive in our implementation of the Michigan Environmental Response Act amendement, we will continue to encourage development of environmental audit privilege legislation and a wetlands banking program, and we will work with legislators to develop solutions to the lars are being used to support flow control program," he concluded.

They were once known as "gas buggies" or "horseless carriages." Civilized folks ran when they saw then coming...or stood by the road and gawked. Scoffers cried "get a horse," and predicted that this new fad would soon sputter to an end.

Drag Racing

By Don Nicholson

Summers almost over and September brings back all the friends that students have missed since June. New classes, teachers and the start of another year of learning. Now what does this have to do with drag racing you ask, everything.

Most people have the misconception that all you do is make a car go fast. That's only a small part of racing. In the pro classes you almost need an engineering degree to make the car go down the track. After all, to go from zero to over 200 m.p.h. or 300 m.p.h. in only a 1/4 mile you have to know a lot of math, science, reading and don't forget the computers. The computers in these cars make windows '95 look like a pocket calculator.

eave all that stuff to the pros. Most of us have not made it that far yet. First of all reading is for the rule book, if you don't know the rules it's time to stay home and read them. How can you go racing if you don't know the law. In real life if you were stopped for speeding by a police officer and said I didn't know 100 m.p.h. was against the law, he would write you a ticket and tell you ignorance is no excuse. Most track officials will tell you to buy a rule book. The rules in the N.H.R.A. rule book may seem out of place for your daily driver, but they were written because someone said that would never happen to me.

Math can be used in more ways than you can think of from reading a time slip to figuring out how to jet your carborator with the weather changes. When your car goes thru the finish line with the engine revving to high it will take some math knowledge to figure out what gear or tire size will make the engine work less and attain the same or better speed. It also takes geometry to set up a chassis on a car with four link or ladder bar suspension. Sure you could make it work with trial and error but by the time you get it the competition is going home with the money, the days of building a car from the seat of your pants is back in

W ith all the exotic forms of fuel used nowadays, a science degree is a must. Mixing nitro methane in top fuel cars to understanding how nitrous oxide mixed with gas or alcohol makes a car fly down the track or puts an engine in the scrap pile.

Every person that has taken auto shop can go to Ramchargers and pick up parts for their car to make them go faster, but wouldn't it be more fun to know how the parts work and learn to make those parts

Most tracks have a high school race in the spring and fall. It's a great way to spend the day and cheer on your high school team and spend the day with the family. Most tracks put up some scholarships to college or trade schools and many other prizes. So bring out the car you have been working on all summer long or hop in the daily driver and come out and have some fun.

Former Inkster man wins honors

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER MCN Managing Editor-

Former Inkster resident Henry Pearson III received honors for his gardening skills from the governor of Massachusetts.

Pearson was presented with a citation from Gov. William Weld which read, "In appreciation for your dedication to keeping your community clean and crime free and your promotion of civic pride and involvement."

Pearson grew up in Inkster where he learned gardening skills from his parents, Mr. and York Avenue.

"I love working with the earth and creating something magical. I was taught my skills from my parents," Pearson said. "But the love of the earth and what is produces has reI love working with the earth and creating something magical

Pearson graduated with honors from Western Michigan University, and then moved on to Harvard University.

He has been a resident of Mrs. Henry Pearson Jr. of New New England for 25 years, currently residing in Boston.

"I hope you will be able to print my story," Pearson wrote to the editor. "Until then, I shall always remain with the love of nature and keeping our cities clean and crime free."

Utility suggests ways to cope with heat

By RACHAEL LEWIS MCN Special Writer

The long, hot summer of 1995 has tested Southeastern Michigan residents' ability to cope with unrelenting heat

Rising temperatures often mean rising electric bills as many homeowners and business people struggle to beat the heat with he help of air conditioning. Nearly 80 percent of Detroit Edison's residential customers have either highest comfortable setting.

Benefit slated

for transplant

central air conditioning or room air conditioning units.

Customers also can use energy-saving tips to help them make wise choices that can save money, such as:

· Closing blinds, shades, and draperies keeps the sun out and helps fans and air conditioners cool more efficiently. Window fan users should also make sure draperies are secured for better air circulation

Set the thermostat on the

You can reduce cooling costs by five percent just by raising the temperature two degrees.

· Regular maintenance will help air conditioners last longer and work better, but remember to disconnect the electrical power when working on them. Keep the outside portion of air conditioners free of dust and debris, clean fan blades annually and clean or change air filters every 90 days during the cooling season.

· When using a window air conditioner, close doors leading to uncooled parts of the home for better, more efficient cooling.

· If you are having difficulty cooling the upper level or a multi-story home with central air conditioning, consider closing registers on the lower level to push cool air upstairs. Closing doors between floors also keeps cool air upstairs.

These steps can help maintain reasonable comfort on the upper level without overcooling other portions of the home.

Welfare reform bill on Capitol agenda

Welfare reform will be among the first issues the Senate tackles when lawmakers return to Capitol Hill after Labor Day.

"The nation's welfare system does not serve the nation well. It has failed the children it is intended to protect and it has failed the American taxpayer," said Senator Carl Levin, D-Mich. "It makes no sense to continue a system which contains incentives for people to be on welfare."

The modification would require welfare recipients who are not in training, in school or working in a private sector job to perform community service within six months as a condition of continuing to receive benefits.

As originally drafted, both the GOP and the Democratic Welfare proposals allowed two years before welfare recipients not in training, in school, or in a private sector job, were required to perform a community service job in order to retain benefits.

Levin's tighter work provisions would be phased in to allow states to adjust to the administrative requirements. After three years States are told they should adopt the Levin six-moth provision. The provision becomes fully mandatory at the end of seven

"The Dole bill requires private employment or community service work within two years. Why wait that long?" Levin asked. "Why wait two years? Six months is surely long enough."

Curfew sweep takes in 27 area juveniles

In response to the numerous complaints about juveniles violating the Ypsilanti Township curfew ordinance, Michigan State Police Troopers and Washtenaw County Sheriff's Deputies teamed up and conducted a curfew sweep last Friday from 11 p.m. to 4 a.m.

During this operation, a total of 27 juveniles were picked up. They were then taken back to the Michigan State Police Post 26, where parents came and picked them up.

Other violations included pager violations, minor in possession (MIP) of tobacco, and MIP of alcohol. One curfew violator was kept in the Juvenile Detention facility after being arrested.

More curfew operations like this are being planned by the Michigan State Police and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Juveniles and their parents are reminded that, within Ypsilanti Township, a person 17 and under who is caught out during the hours of 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. will be cited for curfew violation.

The only exceptions to this ordinance are: if the minor is accompanied by a parent, legal guardian, or other responsible adult having the care or custody of the minor; or, the minor is going to or from work. provided that the minor's hours of employment do not violate state law.

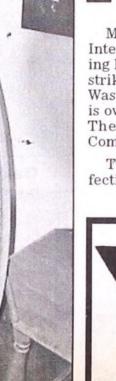

Parents are also reminded that they can also be cited for failing to exercise control over their child. Each violation carries a maximum fine of $100/90

Dreams do come true

Businesswoman becomes a cosmetologist to help cancer patients

By MARGO DEWEY MCN News Editor

A local businesswoman's sensitivity and concern for cancer patients has led her to create unique hair designs for oncology patients in the Western Wayne County area.

Susie Lucas began her crusade to help those less fortunate while working at St.

Joseph Hospital in the environmental service depart-

"After working around cancer patients, I was exposed to a lot of young people who had cancer and lost their hair," said Lucas. "I noticed that they started losing their self esteem. They took it very hard.

"There isn't a lot out there in terms of wigs or hair designs for cancer patients. I wanted to ease their pain and give them back their self esteem."

Lucas left St. Joseph to pursue a cosmetology license to begin her new career as a designer of wigs for children, women and men who are cancer patients.

The Westland resident not only achieved her goal to become a licensed cosmetologist, but she also opened her own beauty salon in Inkster.

"I started out making turbans," said Lucas. "I worked at first out of the basement of my home. Slowly I was able to gather enough money to open my own business."

Unique Hair Designs is located at 211 Henry Ruff in Inkster. The mother of five said with her unique creations, cancer patients can have many different hairstyles.

"With these turbans, cancer patients can go out shopping for a new outfit and still look in style or go to a baseball game," Lucas said. "I have several kinds of turbans to match any skin color or shape of face. I also have many hair bands, scarves, braids, French twists and ponytails."

The turbans are available in several colors from pink to black. She has even designed a baseball cap for men with hair fringes aligning the bottom of the hat.

The unique hair designs are also reasonably priced. They range from $20 to $179 depending on the style.

"If someone can't afford the actual price of the turban, I will work with them," said Lucas. "I have given a few away to those who didn't have any money."

Lucas said several of the cancer patients she has already helped not only enjoy her product, but they also feel more confident.

"Once they have hair again with a turban or braid or twist, they can't wait to go out to the malls and restaurants," said Lucas. "It's so sad when you see a young person who has cancer, and they lose all their

"I saw one young girl who just cried when she looked in a mirror. I wanted to do something to help these people."

The majority of the Westland resident's hair designs are made of real hair which can be curled and cut to the shape of a face.

Lucas said she is trying to work with area hospitals to let them know about her product so cancer patients will realize there is an alternative.

"Sometimes they don't know they have options," said Lucas. "They can look presentable without having to wear just a hat or scarf."

Lucas grew up in Montgomery, Ala. She said her parents always taught her to be kind and considerate of others.

"Caring about the needs of others was definitely a part of l kinds of turb my upbringing," said Lucas.

"My family taught me the importance of giving to those less fortunate. What I enjoy most is watching a cancer patient transform from a very sad individual into someone with hope and love for themselves again.

"I enjoy making people feel better about themselves. It makes me feel good inside."

I saw one young girl who just cried when she looked in a mirror. I wanted to do something to help these people.

- Susie Lucas

Lucas has been a Westingeresident since 1972. She said she and her husband had dreams of achieving success in Michigan with her family.

"I had a dream to be a cosmetologist, and I achieved that dream," Lucas said. "My husband, Nelson, wanted to become a mechanic, and that's exactly what he is today.

"Everything is going well for us, and I think it's time I give something back to those who haven't been fortunate enough to reach their dream."

The cosmetologist said she gives consultations on the phone-or-makes on-site appointments. Oncology patients interested in finding out about Lucas' creations can contact her at 313-722-9285.

Susie Lucas creates her unique turban designs by the stroke of a pen. She said she was inspired to create hair pieces while working at St. Joseph Hospital near the cancer ward. MCN photo by Kimberly Woloskie

1995 Ford Bronco scores with big, bold truck

By JUSTIN WILCOX MCN Automotive Writer

BIG, BOLD, and BEAUTI-FUL? Well, not quite, but it is big and bold. I am describing the 1995 Ford Bronco.

I was amazed when I found that this truck went over 35 mph on the highway. With all of the publicity I was convinced that if O.J's could only do 35 then that's all that my tester could do.

Kidding aside, the Bronco exhibited better braking and acceleration then the 1995 Chevrolet Tahoe 2-door that I tested a few months ago.

Where the Bronco did not excel, in my opinion, was the looks department. The basic shape of the body has not changed in the past 10 to 12 years. If anything hurts the sales of this giant, this is it.

A new trim package joins the Ford Bronco lineup for 1995. The XLT Sports Package is available in any of three eyecatching clearcoat colors Bright Red, Black, and Oxford white - with matching grille, bumpers and cab steps. It also has forged aluminum deepdish wheels.

The interior compliments the exterior color and is fitted with captain's chairs for the driver and front passenger and bench seating in the rear.

Filling a niche between the mid-level XLT and the top-ofthe-line Eddie Bauer, the XLT Sport Package is designed to further broaden the market appeal of Bronco to include buyers who are looking for a sportier image in a rugged four wheel drive vehicle. Bronco has been America's best-selling full size utility vehicle for Bronco models are powered by either of two electronically controlled fuel injected V8 engines. The 5.0 liter engine can be teamed with either a five speed manual overdrive transmission or a four speed automatic overdrive transmission. The 5.8 liter V8 is paired exclusively with the four-speed automatic transmission.

Bronco's standard safety equipment includes a fourwheel anti-lock braking system, a drivers side air bag, side-door guard beams and an interlock that requires the brake pedal to be applied before the automatic transmission can be shifted out of "PARK."

At $26,780 the Bronco is not cheap, but it does its job well. For the price you receive: air conditioning, power windows and locks, an AM/FM stereo with cassette, a 5.0 liter V8 engine, a 5 speed manual transmission, 4-WD, an anti-theft security system, keyless entry and the blackest raven black paint scheme I have ever seen.

Before I had the flat tire I would have only criticized the Bronco for its antiquated design. However, after searching for nearly 15 minutes for the jack, I resorted to looking in the owner's manual. It informed my on page 4-59 that the jack was mounted under the hood on the passenger side fender. A poor place indeed considering that the temperature was exceeding 94 degrees and I had been traveling for nearly an hour. It was a tad warm when changing a tire and fighting with the jack. Enough said. A redesign would be greatly appreciated.

No easy way around Sumpter easement

By LORI GILLESPIE MCN Staff Writer

A feud in Sumpter Township over an easement between two properties is now in the court of appeals.

John and Laura Surgener stated that the feud began when dogs, belonging to their neighbors, the Scotts, killed some ducks on the pond on the Surgener's property. They took their neighbors to court, where the Surgeners were told to put a fence up around the pond to keep the dogs out.

After the fence was put up, John Surgener claims his neighbor kept on "picking on me." A 66-foot easement between the two properties became the center of attention when Scott put up trees and a rock garden on the border between the easements.

Surgener, 71, said that he has a barn, in which he keeps hay and straw, near the easement. Since his neighbor put up the garden, there is no way for him to get his truck or tractor back there to retrieve the hay.

The Surgeners took their neighbor back to court. The Scotts said they put the garden and trees up to protect the water line which is located in the easement. The water line juts out of the ground about six inches and cannot be driven

The judge in this case, ruled against the Surgeners also. But, the Surgeners claim that they lost because Sumpter

The Scotts said they put the garden and trees up to protect the water line...

Township administrator, Glenn Bowles testified on behalf of the Scotts, and spoke privately with the judge in the judge's chambers.

Surgener was very upset because he didn't think the township should be involved. Bowles said that he did not want to testify, but he had no choice when he was subpoenaed.

Surgener claims he has already paid $11,500 in legal fees. The Surgeners are taking their case to the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Hospice in need funds

Community Hospice Services (CHS) is accepting donations of clean usable items for their Rummage/Bake Sale which will be held on Sept. 15. The sale will take place in the parking lot of CHS Westland office (located on the northwest corner of Warren and Venoy Roads) from 9 a.m. to 4

All the proceeds will benefit the funding of the CHS Children's Bereavement Programs. In addition, CHS will launch their brand new line of holiday and all occasion greeting cards on sale.

The hospice is accepting donations of children's items, apparel, furniture, housewares, arts and crafts, and books in good condition up to Sept. 12. All donated items are tax deductible for the fair market value of the items donated, and the hospice will supply a receipt for tax purposes.

CHS is well known throughout the community for their premier children's bereavement programs, including a twice yearly grief support series, a monthly grief support group called Connections and Camp Phoenix - a weekend camp experience for bereaved children.

"All of the children's bereavement services are offered free-of-charge to the general public and are not reimbursable by insurance companies, so we need to look to donations and fund raisers, such as the rummage/bake sale to fund the program," said Maureen Butrico, Executive Director for CHS.

CHS was established in 1981 to offer compassionate, skilled home-care to those individuals in the final phase of life. The hospice philosophy gives supportive care which neither hastens nor postpones death, it promotes quality of life and provides comfort and emotional healing for the patient and family members.

Community Hospice provides their service to incurably ill patients and their families in Western Wayne,

For more information, or to make a tax deductible donation to the rummage sale, contact Mary Letters or Yvonne Strand at CHS, (313) 522-4244.

School of choice

Monroe opens doors of 21st Century education

Having a choice in our children's learning is the future of education.

The opportunity is now available for parents to choose affordable, quality schools to prepare children for the realities of the 21st century.

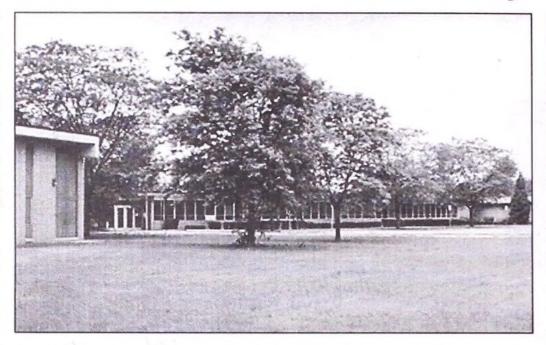

Unfortunately, many parents have lost hope in the dreams they once shared for their children and their children, said officials of a new charter school. Budget cuts, school closings, district mergers and overcrowded classrooms have led to the problems in the traditional learning environment.

The situation isn't unique, but the opportunity Monroe Developmental Academy is offering, is, according to its organizers.

In September, Michigan's largest charter public elementary school will open in Western Wayne County.

The focus of every decision at Monroe Developmental Academy is to be based on the outcome that children deserve - a quality education, in a public school setting, from teachers and administrators that encourage parent participation, the organizers said..

opmental needs, allowing them to progress at their individual pace of learning. The school will feature student to staff ratios of less then 15 to 1 and will provide a broad range of educational strategies to enhance each child's potential.

The school will be organized as a "quality school," as defined by William Glasser and Edward Demming. Discipline will be handled with "love and logic," as defined by Jim Fay.

Enrollment will continue by mail. Send inquiries to 34831 E. Michigan Ave., Wayne, 48184; or call (313) 438-1536. A send on-site enrollment is schedule for after Labor Day, more information can be obtained from the voice-mail service or through the mail.

On September 22nd, more than 300 children will begin a world-class education right here in Western Wayne County.

Monroe Developmental Academy

THE FUTURE OF EDUCATION. RIGHT HERE. RIGHT NOW.

It's not too late for your children to join them.

After Labor Day, the Monroe Developmental Academy will be open and accepting enrollment for the remaining openings in our program. We're a tuition-free, charter public elementary school. And, as a member of the National Association of Quality Schools, our entire focus is on one outcome—meeting the needs of our children by providing a quality, world-class public education.

Amigo Mobility helps disabled 'get up and go'

By RACHAEL LEWIS MCN Staff Writer

The Amigo Mobility Center offers platform and mobility aids to those who are mobility impaired.

Among the products offered are a battery-powered platform and mobility aids – the lifts installed in cars and vans – and tub lifts. They also sell and service wheel chairs and ramps.

All repairs are made on site.

The Amigo Platform Mobility Aid was invented in 1968 by Al Thieme for his wife, in Bridgeport, Mich. All of the parts of the Amigo Mobility aids are made in the United States, and are constructed in Bridgeport, Donajane Japinski opened the first Amigo franchise in Wayne County in June of 1994 in Livonia. She opened her second store on May 15 of this year in Troy. Before she opened her first store, people who wished to purchase an Amigo mobility aid had to go to the factory and store in Bridgeport to buy one.

The Amigo is a battery powered scooter that runs on either a 12 volt battery or a 24 volt battery depending on whether it is a front wheel drive or a rear wheel drive vehicle. They have an on-board charger, for the battery that can be plugged into a wall socket for charging. The batteries can get between 15 and 25 miles on a charge depending on the model and are able to maintain speeds of about 5 miles per hour.

Japinski, became interested in helping people with disabilities after working with General Motors Corporation's Mobility Program which offers a $1,000 rebate to people who must make changes to vehicles to accommodate disabilities. During her time in this position, she noticed how many people were in need for special services like the Amigo.

Friendship Center offers child care

Father, son share drag racing enthusiasm

MCN Staff Writer

A chance broken leg shortly before a football season several years ago turned young Stewart Evans sports' interests to drag racing.

Today that decision is being looked on fondly by his father, John Evans, owner of Stu Evans Lincoln Mercury, as the greatest chance in the world for quality time for him and his 19-year-old racing enthusi-

The senior Evans said he was greatly surprised early last year, when his son (just before he began his senior year at Northville High School) told him that he was interested in purchasing a particular racing car.

Evans joined his son in inspecting the car (a 1966 Comet) at an engine builder's shop.

"We bought the car, had a new engine installed, and Stewart was ready to go last August," Evans said.

The Evans car dealership has close ties with the Milan Dragway and since his son has entered the racing field, "it has become our home track", Evans said.

"The third week he entered the races," the proud father said, "he went to the third round of the night." That is quite a record for such a young racer, Evans added.

As his son's driving expertise developed rapidly, Evans said, it was decided that a faster car should be obtained. Thus in October of 1994, his son purchased a 1994 Thunderbird race car from noted auto builder Carl Holbrook.

Holbrook had built the car for himself, Evans explained, and at the 1994 Autorama the car was credited with being the best engineered and having the best finish.

"I saw him drive it up to speeds of 186 miles per hour," Evans said. After purchasing the quality racing car, we installed a Ford 514 engine in it during the winter, he said.

Then last winter Stewart went to Frank Hawley's Drag Racing School in Florida for three days and then returned later for another day of training.

Last month, his son attended Hawley's reaction clinic in Reading. Penn, where drivers learn to match their mental driving skills with other elements of drag racing.

While there, he continued to a fifth round of racing one day and hit a top speed of 8.67 seconds for a quarter mile, Evans related.

In drag racing, men and women of all ages compete in the same classes. In fact one veteran racer, who had retired and recently returned and won a $15,000 prize a few weeks before, was beaten by my

"We have learned a lot in a short period of time," Evans said. "While in Reading, the fly-wheel in my son's car broke. We had a new one flown in from Michigan and installed it with the help of others and he was back on the race track by 1 p.m. that day."

Young Stewart is currently up for "Rookie of the Year" honors at Milan Dragway, his father said.

Bill Kapolka, president of the Milan Dragway, admitted young Stewart is one of the up-and-comers in the drag racing field and will be one of about a dozen drivers competing for that award. The winner will be announced at a formal banquet in October.

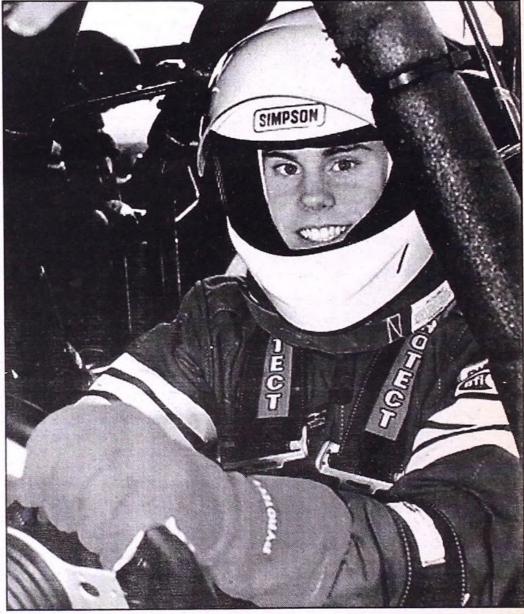

Evans said he and his son really feel at home on the Milan track, because of the environment the operators have created there. " It goes even beyond general safety provisions," Evans said, "they outlaw drinking and driving on the track and refuse to allow any types of games going on there."

Kapolka is proud of the Milan Dragway's safety record. "Last year we had 76,000 races and only recorded three minor accidents with no injuries," he said.

What makes that record so remarkable, Kapolka said, is that the action is at super high speeds. A new speed record (293 miles per hour) was set last year by a woman driver, Shirley Muldowney.

Kapolka was equally proud of the no drug or alcohol emphasis at the Milan track and feels that is why the dragway has become such a familyrelated sport site. "We have many father and son, as well as best friend-brothers teams here," he

What does the future hold for young Evans? His father said Stewart will be entering Northwood University in Midland this fall. He will be majoring in automotive marketing.

1996 Thunderbirds will be purchased for next year's racing season. Evans' son will drive one and Chris Holbrook, son of Carl Holbrook, will drive the other in the same class races, Evans said.

Val-Tile delivers full-service flooring

> By LORI GILLESPIE MCN Staff Writer

"We offer a selection of ceramic floor tile not available from anybody else in the Detroit area - it sets us apart from everyone else," according to John Dalpiaz, store manager at Val-Tile.

The Canton store, on Ford road, between Haggerty and Lilley, has been open since Jan. 1994.

"We are a full-service flooring store, which means we not only sell, but we also install. Our installation is guaranteed by the company for one year," Dalpiaz said.

Aside from ceramic, granite and marble tile, Val-Tile also sells vinyl, carpet and hardwood flooring, along with wall tile.

"We offer 208 styles of floor tile and 80 styles for the wall," stated Dalpiaz.

According to Val-Tile owner, Peter Valente Sr., "It will be a pleasure to speak with our clients. We want to be sure they will be

Auto Finance re-establishes credit

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

The Auto Finance Center of Ypsilanti has widened its customer field to include many self-employed business persons, John Raider, center spokesperson said last week.

Previously its clientele centered heavily on young customers, who had no credit rating or those who have had a bad credit experience, Raider said.

While Auto Finance Center still services those customers, he said, as the number of self-employed residents climbs in the area, so does their needs and AFC works hard to fill those needs.

Vehicle sales at the East Michigan Avenue sales center in Ypsilanti have increased so rapidly in the past year, Raider said, he has had to hire additional sales help and install new phone lines.

The number and variety of his vehicles (cars, vans and trucks) on the lot has increased to at least 100 at any one time, and the purchase price now ranges from a few hundred dollars to $20,000.

Some of the vehicles that Auto Finance Center sells come with service contracts in tact, he said, while others can be serviced with discount car product prices.

Another positive factor that has happened in recent months, Raider

MICHIGAN MOTORSPORTS 1196 ECORSE YPSILANTI (313) 48 SPORT

Ypsilanti Motorsport celebrates first birthday, business success

By LORI GILLESPIE MCN Staff Writer

"We've survived a year, which has been profitable and a lot of fun," according to Ron Cayce, co-owner of Motorsport.

Motorsport opened its doors in August 1994, and they are eagerly looking forward to 1996.

"Yamaha and Suzuki are coming out with new stuff which will appeal to the public," Cayce said.

Yamaha and Suzuki aren't the only new products to be found on the shelves at Motorsport.

According to Carl Mason, parts manager, "We've added new helmets from HJC, Bell, Bieffe, and Shoei. We've also added Jet Pilot, No Fear, and Fox apparel."

After selling their products, Ypsilanti's Motorsport services them as needed.

"We service all ATVs, motorcycles and watercraft," according to Jason Broski, service manager.

Broski said, "We have three other factory trained techs which have been here for a year. I've done this type of work for five years, and I went to school for two years in Florida. We specialize in late model vehicles, so we are always continuing our education to keep up with the new technology coming out."

Mason said that Motorsport is working on making next year as good as this one has been. "We plan on building up our-inventory of parts and accessories. We want to have more of what the customers want and need."

The Service Department has a great deal of pride in what they do also. "I would be willing to put our service department up against anyone else," Broski stated. "Our turnaround time is about the best anywhere. Your vehicle won't sit here very long."

Now that summer is just about over, the people at Motorsport are preparing for winter.

"We're getting excited for winter," Mason stated. "We're getting in gear for snowmobile season with the new Yamaha 600XT. We will also be stocking a full inventory of accessories including the Yamaha GYT twin pipe, the V Max, and the XT."

The service department is also ready for the snow to fall. "We've got a new dynamometer, which reads the horse power and torque on snowmobiles," according to Broski.

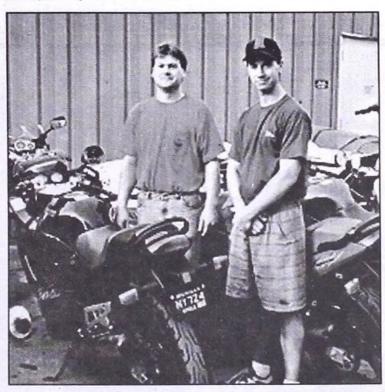

According to Cayce and co-owner Dennis Greco, the response of the community has been great towards Motorsport.

"When we got in the building, it was totally trashed. There was garbage all over the place, and the walls were splattered with paint from the previous owners. I think our neighbors appreciate the fact that we plan on being here longterm. We've also done stuff on the radio, community service announcements like, 'don't let your kids operate a motorcycle without a helmet.' We just want to give a little bit back to the community."

Cayce admitted to being surprised at the number of female customers he has had in the past year. "Just this summer alone, I've had about a dozen girls who have bought motorcycles from us."

Cayce said the women are buying the Vergo and the Katana motorcycles.

But, women aren't the only ones who are buying the Katana.

"We are the number one seller of Katanas in the entire U.S. We also sell a lot of Suzuki, making us number 12, and, we're number 22 with the Yamahas. That's pretty good for being on a side street in Ypsilanti."

Cayce said Motorsport hopes to continue on the same path they have been traveling.

"We plan on making '96 as good as '95 by continuing to be aware of our customers needs. We also want the customers to be happy with our services. We believe that the sale doesn't end when the customer walks out the door. If they have a problem with their equipment, we are more than happy to service it for them."

Cayce also stated, "We have an

Cayce also stated, "We have an expanded selection of parts and accessories, like jackets and gloves. We will continue to monitor our customers needs."

Motorsport also sells farm utility from Hall Master and motor scooters from Tomas.

"We are looking to add one more major line to the two we already have, Suzuki and Yamaha."

Motorsport is located at 1196 Ecorse road in Ypsilanti. The staff would be happy to help you between the hours of 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays. For more information, call (313) 487-7678.

Furniture Mart showcases quality brands

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Top quality furniture, as well as thrifty ready to assemble pieces, are available today at Furniture Mart Showrooms of Ypsilanti.

The 42,000 square foot building housing between 600-700 furniture pieces has become a key marketing location for area homeowners.

The store owned by Carol Bogdanski has been in operation for more than two years.

Furniture Mart Showrooms offers many quality brands including Bassett, Richard's Quality Bedding, Benchcraft, Chromecraft and Riverside. Those not on the showroom floor are displayed in a wide assortment of catalogues.

The showrooms that fill almost an acre of furniture and accessories under one roof, include items for the bedroom, dining room, living room, family room and kitchen.

Multiple furniture styles also are featured including country, contemporary and traditional.

One of the hottest furniture features today includes the low cost ready to assemble furniture pieces, including dressers, utility stands and entertainment centers.

Furniture Mart Showrooms will beat all major discount store prices, Bogdanski vows, and will provide top personal services including nighttime deliveries on Mondays and Fridays until 8 p.m.

In addition delivery personnel will cart away old bedding and furniture pieces as an extra service to its customers.

Another delivery feature Furniture Mart Showrooms offers is "time stop delivery," which means the purchased furniture will be delivered during a specified two-hour period.

"That eliminates the need for our customers to remain in their homes all day waiting for deliveries," Bogdanski states proudly.

The sales rooms are open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays. Other sales hours include 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and from noon to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Architect, designer plans for a successful future

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER MCN Managing Editor

Continuing their services to costconscious clients who seek quality and innovativeness in their designs, the staff of Chesley Odom Design Associates are working on a variety of new projects for residential and commercial clients.

Their "designs for the future" cater to the needs of clients who understand the importance of design in the total project.

Among Odom's newest projects

- New office signage for local travel agency.
- New lobby design, carpeting and colors or CPA firm
- · Garden room addition for lake side home
- · Identity program with signs and logo for large corporation
- · Two restaurants in Oakland County, one restaurant in Wayne County and bar and grill on east side
- Logo for Dominican Republic company
- · Exterior of car wash in Dearborn Heights
- · Concession stand for sports facility.

- · Corporate lobby and trophy
- · Finalizing of bidding documents for fire station

The variety of his projects is evidence that whatever the need, Chesley Odom Design can fill it.

Making things beautiful has been his life's work -- whether it is a small project or a major venture.

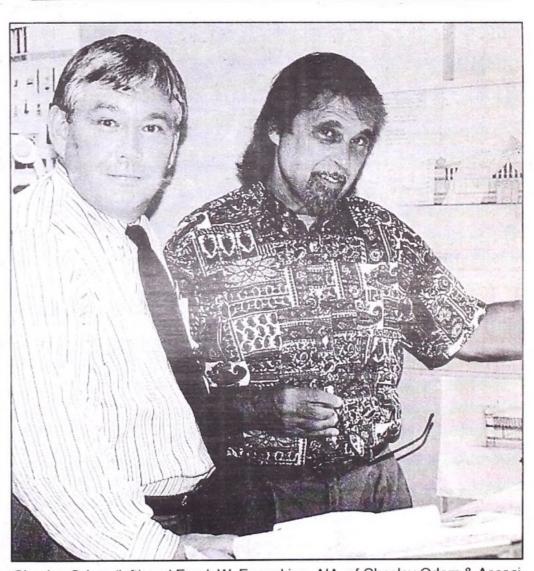

Odom, who earned a bachelor's degree in fine arts from the Center for Creative Studies, designs everything from corporate identities and logos to commercial and residential remodeling, custom kitchens, signage and sports facility suites.

He also paints portraits, and is a charter member of the Belleville Area Council for the Arts. Odom serves on the board of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Odom said the addition of Frank W. Enneking, AIA, to the staff will enhance the services provided by the firm.

Enneking, who received a degree in architecture from the University of Cincinnati, is a certified historical architect for the state of Michigan.

Chesley Odom Design Associates is located at 533 Main Street, Belleville, 699-2000.

Gambino limousines provides star treatment service for all occasions

By LORI GILLESPIE MCN Staff Writer

Do you want to feel like a famous rock star or movie star?

If you answered yes, Gambino Limousine in Van Buren Township, may be what you're looking for.

According to Dawn Council, manager and driver for the limo service, "People live out their fantasies in these cars."

Gambino Limousine has several Lincolns, 1993s to 1995s, and they also have a Taurus limo. Gambino's has limos which hold 12 passengers, eight to 10 passengers, and two to six passengers.

"All of our cars are fully loaded, they have CD players, VCRs, TVs, stereos, and a cooler to keep ice frozen," Council stated. "We provide cups, but, if they want to drink, they have to bring it with them. We don't supply alcohol (other than champagne for weddings), because it's against the law."

Gambino's provides service for all occasions, including, weddings, proms, bachelor and bachelorette parties, concerts, dinner runs, and funerals. They also have a Windsor Gambling Package, to transport people to and from the casino.

Some of the stars who have seen the inside of a Gambino Limousine include, Richard Lewis ("the Boku guy"), Phil Donahue, Vanessa Williams, Wayne Fontes, Lynda Carter, and all of the Red Wings, among others.

"We've got a deal with Chaplin's Comedy Club, to transport their acts to and from the club," Council said.

Being the only woman chauffeur at Gambino's, Council said her favorite event to drive for is, "bachelorette parties. They're a lot of fun and creative. The women are wild!" She also said that driving for a limo service is fun because, "99 percent of the people are great. They're paying money to go out and have a good time. That's why our drivers like their job, because it is so much fun."

Recently, a man rented a limo from Gambino's so he could propose to his girlfriend. "She doesn't know anything about it," Council explained. "Our driver is going to go up to her and tell her he's there to pick her up, he's going to tell her that her name is on the card for the car. The boyfriend is going to wait in the car for her to get in."

Council said there is a three-hour minimum for their limos. Gambino's has wedding packages, and "while the ceremony is going on, the driver is outside decorating the car with flowers, as the client wants. The driver also rolls out the red carpet and chills the champagne."

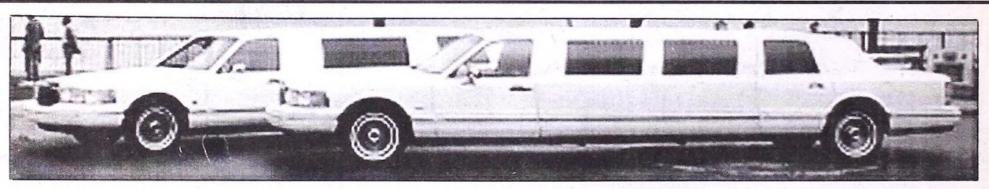

Council said that the people being driven to concerts are generally kids. "We sort of become babysitters for these kids, but it's great because they're just going to have fun. Plus, our drivers feel responsible for the lives of whoever is in the car."

Gambino Limousine serves the entire metropolitan area. "We don't have limits," Council said. "I did a wedding in Auburn Hills recently."

If you plan on partying or going to a club and drinking, renting a limo makes sense.

"It is safer to rent a limo if you're going out to drink. You're not going to kill anyone, and you're not going to get pulled over for drunk driving. None of our drivers drink. If we found out that any of them were drinking, they'd be gone. It's as simple as that."

If you want the star treatment, call Gambino Limousine at (313) 397-1077.

Parkway offers prompt service

By HEATHER NEEDHAM MCN Staff Writer

For people who want a good selection of office supplies without being overwhelmed by a huge store, Parkway Office Supply is a good choice.

Parkway will fill any special order, usually within one day. Parkway stocks a wide variety of office supplies. Whether you need supplies to keep your desk stocked and organized or a desk to put them in, you can get it at Parkway.

Parkway sells pens, paper, computer disks, mouse pads, notebooks, ribbons, paper clips, staplers, and all types of printer paper.

Parkway also sells file cabinets, computer desks, office desks, book shelves, chairs and other items in which to store supplies.

A recent addition to the inventory that has been selling well is the solid oak office furniture. The furniture is more sturdy and attractive than furniture made of particle boards or veneers. Parkway received the stock near the beginning of August, and has been selling well. A new line of furniture the store sells is solid oak, with no particle board.

"The furniture area has been really growing," owner Jon Hisey said. The new furniture is designed by an interior designer who is on staff with Office Pros, a marketing organization.

A new computer system Parkway uses takes much of the guesswork out of ordering and keeping track of merchandise. Every item in the store is recorded on the computer, and new merchandise is automatically re-ordered when numbers drop to a certain level. The re-ordering works on a two-week cycle.

Likewise, every time someone buys an item, it is automatically taken off the inventory, Hisey said.

So, what if you walk into Parkway and you can't find the right brand of typewriter ribbon, or you need a certain type of paper? Not to worry! Parkway can order just about anything you need through a 25,000 item catalogue, and you can get it the next day.

Owner Jon Hisey has been operating the store for two years, after his parents retired. The store has been open since 1969. Hisey and his wife Regina are co-owners.

Parkway has no "mission statement," per se, but operates under the age-old idea that "the customer is always right."

"We have a very loyal customer base," Hisey said. "(Wayne) is a nice community to do business with."

The store deals with approximately 100 customers per day. Hisey said he enjoys seeing a wide variety of people shopping in the store.

While many office supply stores have decided to deal with only commercial accounts, but Parkway handles both retail and commercial accounts. The store has 2,500 commercial accounts.

Operating a retail store has more challenges than operating a strictly commercial business. In retail stores, operators have to guess about how much of a product to keep on the floor, and "hope it sells," Hisey said.

The store's original location was in the old Young Hardware building. It then moved to where Jack's Sport Center is located, on 3158 S. Wayne Road. It has been in its current location, 2118 S. Wayne Road in Westland, for 19 years.

Store hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

A 1994 WCCC graduate, Gary Toussaint transferred to the University of Detroit (U of D) Mercy to study education. Though he had not originally planned to attend WCCC, he said the College prepared him for the Uof D Mercy. "In the fall of 1991 I was going to the University of Detroit Mercy, but financial aid wouldn't pay for everything. The financial aide adviser advised me to go to a community college. The next day I came in, I was lucky enough to be helped by the Eastern Campus Business Manager. He sympathized with my situation. He was able to get me in. ## Venoy Medical Center houses top notch physicians, technology

It's the medical facility for the year 2000 and beyond, and Western Wayne County residents can expect only expert service at the Venoy Medical Center in Wayne.

Recently opened, Venoy Medical houses the top specialists in their field including a gastroenterologist, invasive/interventional cardiologist, hand surgeon, neurologist, Pediatrician, ophthalmologist, internist and vascular surgeon.

Dr. Chandrakant H. Pujara, president of the Professional Investment Group Inc. (property owners of the facility), said area residents will be able to enjoy medical services and tests now under one roof.

"They won't have to go from hospital to hospital or across town to be taken care of any more," said Pujara. "We have provided a full-service medical facility for the residents where they can receive the best care from a stress test to heart scans right within their own community."

The 24,100-square-foot medical building is one story and houses eight office suites for approximately 60 employees. There is a laboratory and a pharmacy.

"We can service the young and the old here," said Pujara. "This is phase one of our project. As the need increases, we will begin construction for phase two which will expand our medical services even more."

Pujara is a board certified internist and a board certified cardiologist. He said office hours for most of the physicians are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"In the near future we may expand those hours to include weekend service," said Pujara.

The physicians affiliated with Venoy Medical Center which is located at 4020 Venoy Road in Wayne include:

• G. P. Shah, M.D.-a gastroenterologist, a medical specialist who deals with the entire digestive system in health and disease.

• S.S. Yellayi, M.D.-an Invasive/ Interventional Cardiologist trained in all aspects of coronary revascularization and clinical cardiology.

• M.A. Hai, M.D., M.S., FICS, specializes in prostate disease, male and female incontinence, impotence and infertility and stone disease.

 R.C. Bhagat, M.D., specializes in hand surgery, emphasizing special hand problems and carpal tunnel surgery.

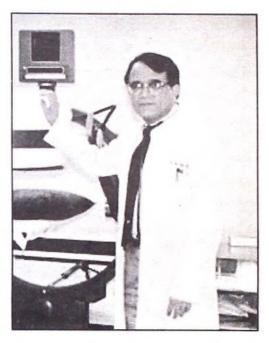

• C.H. Pujara, M.D., FACC, certified by NRC for nuclear cardiology since 1979. He is on staff at Annapolis Hospital, Oakwood Hospi-

 P.R. Shah, M.D. specializes in Internal Medicine.

 M.G. Naini, M.D. specializes in Cardiology.

Pujara said Venoy Medical Center is equipped with the technology to take care of patients beyond the year 2000.

"Our equipment is extremely advanced where a patient can receive results by the time he or she leaves the appointment," said Pujara. "We intend to serve patients in a more cost effective way."

The physicians of Drs. Harris, Birkhill, Wang, Songe and Associates, P.C. (HBWS) are proud to announce their association with the Venoy Medical group and their state of the art facility.

"Our physicians have provided quality radiological services for the Dearborn and Downriver area for 50 years," said HBWS officials. "A relationship with the doctors at the Venoy Medical Center represents a logical extension of our commitment to the patients of this community."

First established in 1945, HBWS began providing professional services in Radiology at Wyandotte Hospital and Medical Center.
